WHO WE ARE

The Centre for Interprofessional Education (IPE) is a strategic partnership between the University of Toronto and the Toronto Academic Health Sciences Network with the University Health Network as lead hospital.

The ultimate goal of the Centre is to prepare healthcare providers with the skills and capacity to transform healthcare through collaborative practice, recognizing that a sustainable, innovative health system, effective health promotion, and good patient outcomes require the full, creative participation of all healthcare providers.

With a central role of developing, delivering and disseminating interprofessional education programs and resources, the Centre has focused uniquely on the continuum of learning, encompassing undergraduate, postgraduate and continuing education. We emphasize the interface between education and practice, simultaneously developing the interprofessional capacity of learners and leaders, while catalyzing change in the practice environment.

The Centre offers a number of programs and services as well as an opportunity for membership and involvement in our growing Interprofessional Community of Practice.

CUSTOMIZED PROGRAMS AND CONSULTATION

The Centre continues to focus on IPE and interprofessional care (IPC) capacity building through Professional Development for our local, provincial, national and international communities. There has been a high demand for our established certificate programs, customized workshops and courses, as well as increasing requests for site visits and onsite consultations. In large part, this is a result of the unique role the Centre plays as an international exemplar of success and sustainability at the education-practice interface. Organizations who are just starting on their IPE/IPC journey and those with growing programs continue to look to the Centre for IPE for its innovative approach to capacity building.

Topics include but are not limited to:

- Collaborative Teams
- Team-Based Care
- Facilitation Skills
- Curriculum Design and Development
- Evaluation/Assessment
- Faculty Development
- Mentoring/Coaching
- Preceptorship
- IPE in Practice Settings
- Collaborative Leadership

EDUCATING HEALTH PROFESSIONALS IN INTERPROFESSIONAL CARE

Advancing the Future of Healthcare through Interprofessional Learning: A Certificate Course for Health Professionals, Educators & Leaders

The course is designed to equip leaders with the knowledge, skills and attitudes to teach learners and fellow colleagues the art and science of working collaboratively for patient-centred care.

With increasing need to build capacity for IPE and IPC locally, nationally and globally, the Centre has seen growth in the demand for ehpic™. The Centre continues to partner with clinical and academic organizations around the world to create customized and locally contextualized versions of ehpic™. These are tailored to address the context-specific needs of organizations and systems in three-day versions.

Collaborative Change Leadership™

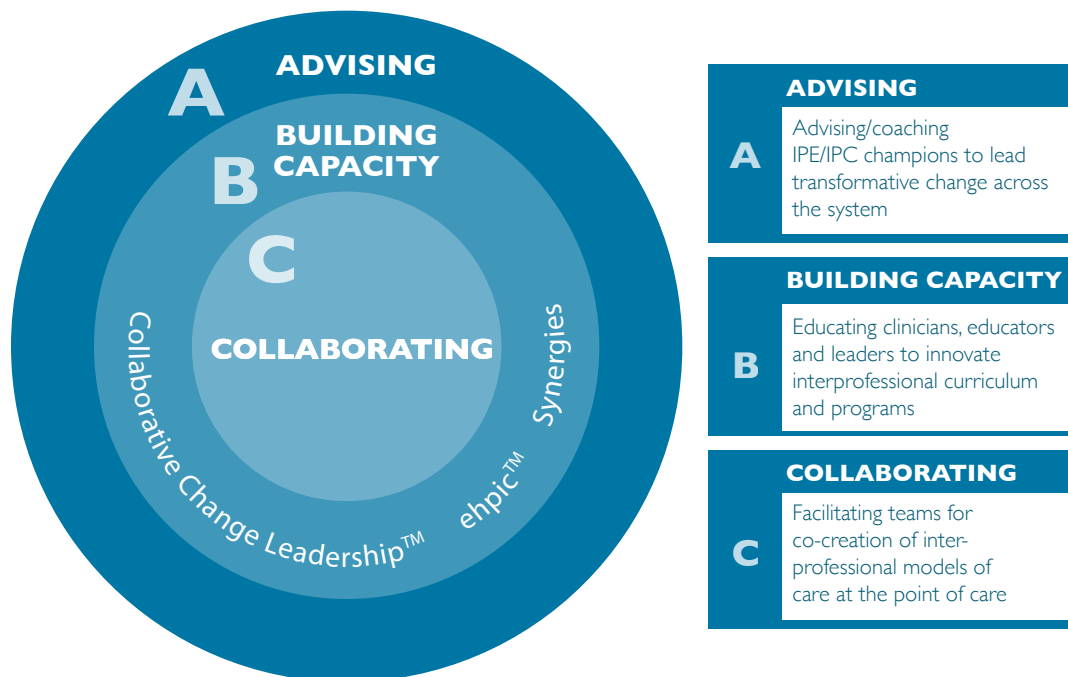

The Collaborative Change Leadership™ (CCL) Program is an accredited, certificate program offered by the University Health Network (UHN) in collaboration with the University of Toronto (UofT) Centre for Interprofessional Education (IPE). This advanced leadership program is aimed at senior and high potential leaders in healthcare and health education. The goal of the CCL program is to develop people to lead health system transformation and enable socially accountable change in their community.
